Ehrlich will give up portfolio, wants to be economic czar

By SARAH HONIG Post Political Reporter

TEL AVIV. -- Finance Minister Simha Ehrlich will definitely relinquish the Treasury portfolio very soon, his confidants say. They add, however, that he is interested in staying in the cabinet, possibly as economic czar without a portfolio.

If Ehrlich inelsts on auch an arrangement, it would considerably complicate the limited reshuffle options, open to Prime Minieter Menahem Begin.

Ehrlich is now abroad, and colleagues who spoke to him by telephone yesterday said he would be well disposed to the idea of being appointed a "super-minister" for nomic affairs. This would spare him from public wrath and would provide him with a face-saving exit from the Treasury.

Ehrlich told his associates yesterday that upon his return he plans to report to Begin at the head of a Liberal Party delegation and recommend the reshuffle demanded on Tuesday by the party's Central Committee.

Ehrlich intimated that he is not enamoured of the suggestion that he be appointed as another deputy to Begin (as is Vigael Yadin), but be did not say that he would reject such a post.

Ehrlich went on to attack his fellow ministers. Ha is realgning, he said, because he is no longer willing to he "the ecapegoat for all the other cabinet mambers." He hoped his successor would enjoy hetter cooperation and would recommend to Begin that he insist that each minister stays within his bailiwick and not interfere with the operations of other ministers.

This last comment is said to be especially directed at Energy Minister Yitzhak Moda'i, who is believed to covet the Treasury portfolio. It is thought that Ehrlich will do his utmost to ensure that his arcb-rival does not become his successor. In any case, Moda'l is eaid not to bave the necessary support in the party.

Neither is Ehrlich excited by the idea of being replaced by La'am's Yigai Hurvitz, While Hurvitz did not undarmine Ehrlich's position, as Moda'i did, be did criticize him harshly. Hurvitz is highly popular in Herut and in the National Religious Party.

The association of young mambers of all coalition partias yesterday called on Begin to appoint Hurvitz to the joh, and Begin is said to ha more partial to him than to the other candidates.

But Hurvitz has made it clear that his condition for taking the joh would be complete authority and hacking from the prime minister. He would never consent to Ehrlich's hovering behind the scenes as an economic super-minister. Begin will be in a tough epot if he has to choose between his loyalty to Ehrlich and his desire to have Hurvitz in the government.

Even within the Libsral Party there are voices saying that it would be better for the party not to be saddled with the prohlematic Finance portfolio once more. MK'e Menahem Savidor and Yizhak Berman have already said that Hurvitz should get the job. This is also the visw of the influential Liberai Workere Organisation, which previously were firm Ehrlich supportara.

Some Herut leadere bava proposed Deputy Minister Yoram Aridor for the job, but be is said not to be on ciose terms with Begin and his appointment would serve no coalition purpose. As would the naming of Hurvitz.

Dayan raps UN specialized agencies: They must give up politics and get on with the job

Jerusalem Post Correspondent UNITED NATIONS. - Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan yesterday denounced the 'beavy politicization" of the UN's specialized agencles. They were dragged into this, he said, by the UN's "automatic majority." which "prefers expedien-icy to principles."

Agencles such as the World Health Organization and the International Labour Organization, Dayan said, must abandon this "dangerons path." He was addressing the Genaral Assembly.

They would then be able to devota themselves to the economic, social, hnmanitarian. acientific and technological tasks which they were set up to perform "and which they perform so well when permitted to do so:"

Dayan said that there had been littie improvement in the situation of Soviet Jewe in the past year. Although the number of exit visas had been increased recently, an evan larger number of Soviet Jews was enled the fundamantal right

Israel and the Jewish people, its religion, culture and national movement. Hs noted bere that the Soviet authorities still do not permit Jews to practise their religion or culture. Referring to the negative attitude of the Security Council towards the Israel-Egypt peace negotiations, Dayan said that while this attitude would not damage the peace process, it would no doubt lower the prestige and even tha moral status of the UN.

On Lebanon, Dayan pointed out that in the UNIFIL area, which was free of terrorists at the time of Israel's withdrawal, there were now about 700 PLO terrorists who'were using it as a base for murderous acts against Israel's populace.

Dayan quoted from the secretarygeneral'a terma of reference for UNIFILA: "Unicormed or armed personnel and military equipment are not allowed to enter the UNIFIL area of operation."

But there were too many cases, Dayan said, in which the UN force had in fact reconciled itself to the pressnee and activitles of the terrorists in its area, "UNIFIL has not carried out its mandate in this Aharon Lavie, 29, of Tel Aviv; respect," he declared. Dayan concluded with an appeal to other Arab states to join the peace talks: "Let the governments of Jordan, Syria and Lebanon and the represen-tatives of the Paleetinian Arabs residing in Judea, Samaria and Gaza join the negotiations in order to achieve the nobie goal of a real and durable, comprehensive peace in our area."

Post Mideast Affairs Editor ALEXANDRIA. - Egypt, Israel and the U.S. yesterday ended two days of taiks on West Bank and Gaza Strip autonomy without settiing on a definition of the projected self-rule, but they did agree to intensify their negotiations toward an accord. Israel's chief negotiator, Interior Minister Yosef Burg, said on retur-ning home last night that the three countries had made substantial progress on their sixth plenary ses sion in their discussion of the autonomy election mechanism. He conceded, however, that Egypt and Israel did oot see eye to eye on the kind of autonomy being offered to the West Bank and Gaza.

Meshel attacks Weizman behaviour at Negev air base labour talks

By JOSHUA BRILLIANT Jerusalen: Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. - Histadrut Secretary-General Yeroham Meehel yeeterday criticized what he characterized as Defence Minister Ezer Welzman's sarcaetic, concelted and rude behaviour. He said it obstructed recolution of their dispute over the construction of the two Negev air basee to be built by American contractors.

Meshel was referring to his meeting with Welzman on Wedneeday evening, which broke up with them hollering at each other. Relations worsened yesterday when Weizman said he was ready to lalk to Meshel if the scoretary-general "behaves civilly."

Meshel sald: "If abuses and obscenity are Ezer Weizman's criteria for behaving civily, then I don't qualify." Wednesday'e talks broke up dur-ing a debate over the Histsdrut's involvement in setting labour con-ditions for work on the bases. The labour federation's representative to a joint committee with the Ministry of Defence, Halm Haberfeld, said the ministry was not allowing the Histadrut to perform its junctions.

Weizman turned to the ministry's director-general, Yoeef Ma'ayon, to clarify a point. According to a Histadrut report, Ma'ayon, who was altting behind Meshel, did not hear queetion and Weizman abouted

Meshel thought Weizman was shouting at him and jumped from his "Nobody shouts at me," he said. The minister, annoyed, replied: "I wasn't sbouting at you." But the two men continued hollering at each other. Weizman then left the room and Meshel declared: 'Nobody walks out on me. I am the Histadrut secretarygeneral.'

Weizman later returned and chook Meshel'a hand, The minister then went to meet with the newspaper editors. Faced with an apparent deadlock, Histadrut leaders today will discuss strikes and lockouts. Preilminary consultations were held here yesterday with Central Committee member Aharon Harel, who had organized the receot antigovernment strike in which hundreds of thousands of workers downed their tools. Moshe Bankover, the secretary of Hevrat Ovdim, the Histadrut's holding company, also attended the meeting. In a letter to the Defence Ministry, he Histadrut yesterday demanded that "work cooditions, wages and social benefits of the Israeli and foreign employees be fixed in a binding agreement with us." It complained that, on September 5, the Defence Ministry refused, in priociple, to sign a labour contract.

the two Negev air bases and criticizcd the employment service for giving a blanket permit to import 3.000 foreign workers. Harel told The Jerusalem Post that workers could be found. The Beged Or plant in Migdal Ha'emek is to be closed, and it's 2,000 to 3,000 employees could be retrained, he said. Redundant workers elaewhere may be perauaded to move, he said.

The Histadrut also complained that equipment belonging to Israeli enterprises would lie idle while foreign contractors work practically round the clock. It denied it was pressuring the government because it wanted to win contracts for Even Vasid and Solel Bonch, which it owns.

The Defence Ministry maintained the work was given to Americans because Israel wanted the U.S. to be reaponsible for preparing the two bases in time for the withdrawai In 1981, Israel apparently wants to be able to avoid responsibility should it refuse to quit the Sinal bases because the Negev bases are not ready. Deputy Defence Minister Mordehai Zipori sald this week that Israel will not leave Eltam and Etzion unlees Rimon and Ovda are ready.

Moreover, the ministry wants to do nothing which would give the American Defence Department cause to blame Israei for any delays

Vance: U.S. will protect interests

NEW YORK (AP). - U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance told Latio American nations that "we will assure that our interests are fully protected" in the dispute over Russian troops in Cuba.

In a major foreign policy speech. Vance said the troops raise concern that Cuba will exploit internal tensions in the hemisohere.

He gave no indication what rctaliatory measures the Carter administration might take if the negotiations fail. Vance epoke hours before a critical section here with Soviet Foreign Minister Andre! Gromyko.

'We are seeking to resolve, by diplomatic negotlations with the Soviet Union, questions raised by the presence of these forces," he said in his prepared speech.

In contrast to the tough line taken by some other administration of ficials. Vance said the dispute with the Soviets should be kept "In proper perspective." He said the U.S. Soviet

Druse border policeman cited for bravery after bomb attack

By Benny Morris

Jerusalem Post Reporter Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Kollek yesterday cited Border Policeman Saleh Juan for his bravery and in-filative following the terrorist bombing in Rehov Ben-Yahuda nine days

Juan, a 19-year-old Druse from Yirka doing his national service in the Border Police, was several hundred metres away when the bicycle bomb went off beside the outdoor tables of the Alno coffee shop.

Despite the danger of a possible eecond bomb. Juan assisted in carrying over a dozen of the wounded to private vehicles and ambulances.

"I carried the dead man (Kami Rofah) to an ambulance. 1 asked civilian passersby to assist me. All refused or turned their faces away. They were apparently in chock."

said Juan, after accepting a Jeruselem Medailion, inscribed with his name, from Kollek, Juan, flanked by senior police and border polics officers, appeared awed by the occaaion.

Fourteen of the 51 wounded in the Ben-Yebuda mail explosion on Wsdnesday of last week are still in Hadassah University Hospitals in Ein Karem and Mount Scopus. Two of these, 15-year-old Glla Morelli and Dora Hershkowitz, were described yesterday by a hospital spokeaman as still in "very serious" conditioo. : Jerusalem police will be on a heightened alert during tha long Yom Kippur weekend, Reinforced Border Police units will patrol the streets of the Old City and East Jeruaalem. Devaluation rate lags behind index

Post Economic Reporter

In the first eight months of the year, the value of the Israel pound declined by 52.5 per cent in relation to the dollar, and by 56 per cent in relation to the "basket" of foreign currencics, according to Bank of Israel figures.

The consumer price index rose by 53 per cent in the same period, which means that the tendency of the devaluation of the pound to lag slightly behind the rate of inflation continued.

The mad rush to buy foreign currency came to a halt this week, and the israel pound rose by 5 agorot in relation to the dollar. Bank of Ierael officiale maintain that there was no good reason for the foreign currency stampede.

Teachers threaten walkout after Succot

By ALAN ELSNER

Jerusalem Post Reporter TEL AVIV. - The Histadrut Teachers Union, which represents all the country's alementary school teachere and some high echool teachera, last evening formally declared a labour dispute with the Civil Service Commission and the statutory 15 daya before heginning. "This gives the government one last chanca to avert a teachera strike after the Succot holiday," Levin eaid.

The teachers complain that the Civil Service Commission violated its work agreement, by which the teachers pay scale was to be linked to the Engineera Union, Levin claimed that the engineers gained pay increases up to 20 per cent last July, but that the government is offering the teachers less than 1 per cent.

At the centre of the dispute is the intarpretation of the engineere' agreament, Engineers above a certain grede qualified for a specisi bonus for "higb alert." The teachers claim that the bonus has nothing to do with the nature of the work per-formed by the engineers and are damanding the same arrangement. Another conflict centres on the failure of the Civil Service Commis-sion to release statistics about how much engineers receive in car allowances. The Etzioni Commission, which was act up to study the status and working conditions of the country'a teachers, had asked for the figures. The incident recently led to the resignation of the commission's chairman.

Levin said that yesterday's move ha "no mere threat. We proved last year that we are quite capable of conducting a protracted industrial struggle for our rights and we ahall not besitate to take aimilar action at the end of the 15 days if nothing changes by then."

The Secondary School Teachers Asaoclation bas put forward demands and threats similar to those of the Histadrut union, and the possibility of a general teachers strike after Succot appears to be rising.

Flim producer Arthur Cohn, who arrived here on Monday night from his home in Basel, Switzerland, yeaterday congratulated film festival organizers for their courage and admitted that "Finzi Contini" was indeed e political film.

"I would not have come to the A Brief Vacation'," said Cohn of his aecond festival entry. "But 'Finzl Contini' is special because of the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty and 1 wanted to show my support for those Egyptians courageous enough to bring this film bere.

"I feel it is tremendously important that this film is now being shown in Egypt." Cohn told The Jerusalem Post. "It is not just about events that occurred 35 years ago. It is about to-day. It shows that even the assimilated aristocratic Italian Jewa learn from u past cannot repeat itself. It will help the Egyptians understand why Israel must bave atrong, defensible borders."

It was not clear yesterday if the Egyptians had heard Cohn's message. His press conference was attended by only a few local journalists - although he was the most important filmmaker to attend the festival and is well known there because of his other productions. It has been said that "Finzi Contini" impressed the packed house which saw it on Tuesday night, and that some of the Egyptians who viewed the film said that seeing what happened to two families made it easier for them to identify with the six million Jews who died.

Cohn was initially invited to ahow "Finzi Contini" at the Third Annual Cairo Festival last year. But at the last moment festival organizers telexed their regrets. Convinced that their decision was "not in the spirit of Camp David" Cohn withdrew his other film, "Black and White in

First raid since London talks Rhodesia hits guerrilla bases in Mozambique

SALISBURY. - Zimbabwe Rhodesian air and ground forces etruck suspected bisck guerriils targets in neighbouring Mozambique yesterday in the first cross-bordar raid reported officially since the start of the London peace talks.

The military command said the attacking forces biasted targets 40 km. inside Mozamblque, northeast of the Zimbabwe Rhodesian border town of Umtall. It said the targets were occupied by guerrilias of Robert Mugabe's wing of the Patriotic Front guerrilia allance.

Yesterday sfternoon, the mliltary command said the "self-defence operation" was still in progress The military command withheld details, but Úmtsil residents confirmed heavy serial sctivity was under way.

It was the first announced attack into Mozambique since a four-dsy invasion aimed at Mozamblcan civilian and military targets. That operation ended on September 8, two days before the start of the London talks.

The latest fighting came as the London conference between the warring factions went into its 18th day, with Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa's government insisting that the armed forces structure remain intact as part of a majority ruis settlement.

The Zimbabwe Rhodesis administratioo is prepared to walk out of the London peace talks if Britain tries to taka over its white-officered security forces or integrate the mainly black troops into a guerriliadominated national army, a senior minister in Muzorewa's delegation sald on Wednesday. NEWS IN BRIEF

Identified, eald the blacks were even more insistent than the whites in Muzorews's delegation about retaining the security forces, because pravious daath threats from the Pstriotic Front guerrilla allisnce had named only blacks.

The minister's remarks underlined the potential deadlock looming next week when the Britlehconvened conference is scheduled to discuss cetting up an interim ad-ministration and the composition of a new army from the warring sides. now in their eeventh year of conflict.

Control of the armed forces has always been the issue most likely to wreck this latest peace effort. It bas made better progress than any previous initiatives, with both eldee making major concessions over white-minority rights under s new constitution.

The Patriotic Front bas consistently refused to take part in any elections while the present government's troops and police hold eway.

Mugabe reiterated on Wedneeday that he wants the movemeot's communist-armed fighters to form the core of the new army. Meanwhile, Muzorewa bas engag-

Bokassa gone, poverty remains

BANGUI, Central African Republic (UPI). - A week after self-styled emperor Jean Bedel Bokasse I was overthrown, little remains of the "empire" be tried to establish in the unyielding brush and desert along

Little, that is, except the overwhelming problems of poverty and despair of one of the world's poorest nations, ravaged for 14 years by a despot his African peers at first found amusing, then intolerable. Jubilant mobe smashed the magnificent gilt throne oo which Bokassa was crowned in 1977 at the start of his "1,000-year dynasty."

Laughing children hauled his beautiful coach through the dusty streets of this riverside capitai, decked out in the brightly-coloured, plumed hats and ornameotal breastplates of Bokassa's imperial guard.

With barely a whimper, Bokassa left his two million aubjects and slipped into permanent sxile in the only couotry that would accept him - the West African natioo of Ivory Coast.

He took with him an estimated $1b. but left behind a vast fortune, including a colid gold bed, preclous crown jewels and scores of speciallyreinforced ceremonial uniforms encrusted with medals be had presented to himself.

New President David Dacko, a cousin whom Bokassa himself ousted 14 years ago, faced an uncertain future in his landlocked and newly renamed "republic."

Dacko, like Bokassa before him, must survive on handouts from other nations, principally the former colonial power, France. "French troops put Dacko back in power and they will keep him there if there is trouble." said a knowledgeabls iocal observsr.

Dacko keeps ministers on BANGUI (Reuter). - The new president of the Central African Republic. already facing mounting public anger, has announced a cabloet which includes several ministers from deposed emperor Bokassa's government.

President David Dacko's move on Wednesday could stir up more fury among students, who have called for the governmeot to be comprised of ministers not connected with the previous regime.

Student leaders called a general strike yesterday in protest against France's refusal to allow former Central African premier Ange Patasee to return from exile in Paris.

Dipiomats said Patasse stood a much better chance of being accepted by public opinion.

Dipiomatic sourcas said they expsctsd the 1,000 French troope currently in the republic to stay for some time, perhaps several months, to help consolidate Dacko's power base and maintain order.

That might be more difficult than it sounds. Even during his first week in office Dacko exhibited glaring weakness

"He is either shooting from the hip or hc is extremoly nalve," one diplomat said of his conduct. "It's difficult yet to know which."

In two Important Initial aonouncemeots, Dacko, his high ebony cheeks shining in the glare of televieion lights, sentenced Bokassa to death for crimes against the natioo and said he intended to open full dipiomatic ralations with South . Africa.

A day later, his round face fixed in a permanent emile, Dacko said of his earlier pronouncement: ''It was just . a joke. Just a joke."

After what we've been through (under Bokassa) we need to relax," he told reporters as he sat in a ! plastic armchair at Boksssa's former downtown palace. Two small red plush and gilt thrones, ieft fro.n = Bokassa'a ruie, flankad the conservatively-dreseed Dacko.

Bokasea'e own eccentricities and 5 excesses were well known and documented.

He once berated a minister over the radio for locking his palace and taking the keys.

He adopted two young Vietnamese girls as "princesses." They claimed to be hie daughters by a liaison with a Vietnamese woman ha met while esrving as a Freoch soldier in Indochina. One "princess" opened a ramshackle clapboard Vieioamese restaurant where she cooked and served.

Bokassa personaliv beat to death four prisoners accused of theft.

In an incident last April that haiped precipitata his downfail, he arrested some 200 echoolchildren who had protested the high cost of uniforms made in the emperor's owo factories. According to Dacko and an independent report prepared by jurists from other African nations. Bokassa personally entered the country's largeet prison to supervise the beating and killing of the schoolchlidren.

There juld, he told friends, be a brief factor encompassing his mis-takes fit he could find any. Entite last two-and-a-half years, inces left office, the chronicle of Kissing" a eight years in the seats of pow has been awelling to mighty proposions. Now it bas split into two volurs, this first one - which cover the years of the Nixon presimey - running to more than 1.000 ages.

Kidnger's reflections on his role in U. foreign policy from 1968 to 1976will thus be twice as long as that of the two presidents of the perd. Nobody accms either sur-pried nr. much bothered. Hia protinence and influenca appear. paadoxically, in have grown rater than ever since he reverted to he status of private citizen.

KISINGER is not merely the most soght-after guest in Washington's hubly select social eircles. He has managed to give the impression of tanscending party politics and of saring none of the moral guilt attching to the Nixon Administration. le has become, in effect, a aelfontained; honorary hranch of the merican Government.

He remains a compulsory stop on he schedules of visiting foreign eaders, returning their visits with all the pomp and circumstance of a head of state. Foreign governments still canvass his views, which he provides only too readily. His globetrotting dynamism makes a stark contrast with the dull competence of his successor, Cyrus Vance, He is said, moreover, to give the impreeeion that he is still passing on secrets, though the only ones he knowa are at least three years old.

At home, he feels free - if not ohliged - to pronounce on most ma-jor issues, eccure in the knowledge that his words can shape events. The Carter Administration pays him court, regarding his support for sun-dry, foreign policies, notably the strategic arms treaty (SALT II), as indispensable.

Witness Klasinger's evidence this summer to the Senate hearings on SALT II, when his demand for a quid pro quo increase in arms spending altered the scope and course of the entire debate. Several senators inetinctively referred to him as "Mr. Secretary" or "Secretary Kissinger" — as indeed, on accasion, has Carter himself.

There is no nameplate outside his 10th-floor Washington office, any mora than there is outside the White House. Ynu are expected to know where you are. Portraits of the occupant with sundry world leaders steer you to his presence. Richard Nixon is conspicuous by his photographic absence. Kissinger dismisses other recent American political mcmolre as "self-serving" and "unbistorical." But his own book. apparently, contains no great surprises. There la, according to aldes, some "good new stuff" on Chile, but "not a lot else to make wavee." Kissinger's main intent has been to write his own place in history. Richard Nixon's memoirs he skimmed for references to himself, pronouncing most of them "okay." Has he read the tonnage of other Watergate books? He apparently prefers watching late-night borror movies on TV. Kissinger's own verdict on Nixon remains friendly but cautious.

The two remain in frequent and amiable contact, although history alone, perhaps, will pronounce on various disputes between them. The only reasons, according to John Ehrlichman, that Nixon didn't burn those tapes was to prove to posterity that he, not Henry Kissinger, was responsible for the worthler foreign policy initiatives of his ad-ministration.

KISSINGER, meanwhile, has three full-time attorneya nu his staff to fight lawsulta over his wiretapping of government officials and journalists. He still receives numernus "hate" and 'nuisances' suits over his part in the expansion of the conflict in South-east Asia, He devotes the major portion of his book defeoding his own role, as national eccurity adviser and as secretary of state, in the Vietnam and Cambodia wars. Some passagea were hurriedly rewritten in the light of recent new evidence from William. Shawcross, the English writer and journalist, whose book "Sideshow" denounced Nixon and Kissinger as

Kissinger is haunted hy those wara, for which America's liberal intelligentsia, guardian of the nation's collective conscience, will never forgive him. Nor will many of those served, who returned home to a villains' welcome. His critics remain a minority, hut an impassioned and vociferous one, who constantly chip away at his prized and ntherwise pristine reputation.

Kissinger's apologia, its Teutonic prose perked up hy a fleet of editors, few challengers as the publishing event of the American autumn. Advance deals around the world already guarantee him something in excess of $5m. He says he needs it, although his income from directorships, consultancies and after-dinner speeches is already prodigious. Kissinger claims to do more unpaid than paid work. But it has been calculated that just three of his consultancies, occupying a quarter of his time, earn him $1.25m. a year - more than the annual salary of America's highestpaid corporate executive, Henry Ford rival hanker put it, is that "important elients can go home and say to their wife and friends. 'I had lunch with my banker — and Henry 'Klasinger - today'."

From the NBC television network he has a five-year contract worth $1m. a year, though the company is now more emharrassed than elated about its distinguished catch. The one "special" Kissinger made for them, a 90-minute diatrihe about Euro-Communism, came 65th out of 65 in that week'e ratinge. Since then, Kissinger has appeared as a brief interviewee on come 50 news programmes in two years - thus collecting more than $5,000 a minute, earning more even than the legendary Barhara Walters.

KISSINGER also holds salaried positions with the Aspen Institute of Humanistic Studies, Colorado, the University of Southern California, Georgetown University In Washington (where he holds a weekly seminar, travels permitting) and one British company, General Elec-

THE OUTGOINGS, as he is quick to point out, are frequently compan-dious. For a start, there are the five permanent security men he hires to protect him, at a cost of come $200,-000 a year, sloce the government decided he no longer merited statefinanced protection. Kissinger's conviction that he is still liable to assassination more or less anywhere in the world is cited by critics as evidence of a Walter Mitty-style fantasy about his own importance.

There are his homes in Washington and New York, plus his wife Nancy's current quest for a country house in Connecticut. There is a staff of eight to run his plush Washington office, plus those three attorneys, pius other mountainous legal costs fighting publication of 30,-000 pages of transcripts of his telephone calls while in the White House and the State Department.

"He's got it all now," said a former member of his staff. "Influence and money are a tough comhination to heat." But why does Henry Kissinger, at 56, drive himself quite as hard as he does? Is it purely ego, which he admits to possessing in vast quantitlea, constantly in need of sustenance? Or does he still nourish higher ambitions?

Kissinger certainly experienced withdrawal symptoms on leaving office. His wife once confessed that he talked diplomaey in his sleep, adding that he would wake in the morning to say, "What a relief I haven't still got to worry about all that." He himself has said he missee the cables. And he was consciously miffed when Georgetown neighbours insisted on the removal of the government no-parking sign outside his home.

His German hirth prevents him, short of a change in the constitution, hashfuily stepping forward as a can-didate for the precidency. But the money he is accumulating would certainly cushion a career in the Senate, where nutside income is necessary to supplement a salary of $57,000 a year.

Kisalnger has already indicated his interest in the New York Senate seat of 75-year-old Jacoh Javits, who has not yet decided whether to run for re-election next year. But in doing so he made it clear that "they would have to come to me. I would make no motion for it myself."

And if a Republican president is elected in 1980? "He would find it very difficuit to turn down," said a senior aide, anticipating my ques-tion "Sure, he could return to government as secretary of state," says Kissinger-watcher Marvin Kalh of CBS. "In a Republican Ad-ministration, he could he God or most anything else."

Would a Republican president he content to have God upstaging him in a cabinet? That may depend, apart from anything else, on whether Henry Kissinger's divinity survives the publication of his memoirs.

Lowery and the other leaders met with Arafat at his office. "I expected a mean, brutal, gruff and rough fellow," said Lowery. "In fact, he's a very charming fellow - very informed, intelligent, an engineer by vocation. He gave us a history of the struggle. He started out softly, and then when he warmed to his task, he got emotional."

LOWERY said he aaw suffering in Lehanon - homes for orphaned children, bomb-ravaged parts of aouthern Lehanon that looked as bad as villages in Vietnam. "Arafat talked about the problams of heing a homeless people - they have prohlems getting hirth certificates. death certificates, passports."

IT'S MORTIFYING, as Schnozzle Durante used to say: everybody wants to get into the act. In a recent column, I wondered why I'd never seen the Six Million Dollar Man epend a penny and a Beershebs reader immediately offered an explanation. Lee Major's blonic eystem, Mr.A. To get us into the right frame of mind for the Days of Awe, Israel TV Interviewed the Prime Minieter before Rosh Hashana. Dahn, now comparatively shorn, wore a fetching straw boater and bore, come to think of it, a singularly appropriate resemblance to Cesar in Marcel Pagnol's "Fanny." It is well worth acquiring Dahn's LP containing the Hesped, the culogy in-spired hy Saramsilo's prose style, in order to get some idea of a true Israeli original, one in a million.

Shaike Ophir was making one of his all too rare TV appearancee. NOW, THERE'S a funny thing, as the Cheeky Chapple used to eay. women in the U.S. have been forced to reflect on this $4b.-a-year This sudden female attention to tacky peepshowe and films like "Peach Fuzz" and "Angals in Chains" le dua to Gloria Steinem, Lois Gould and the rest of the ranking faminist elite. They have declded to taka on the pornographers and try to stop what they see as ''pornography'e intent to humillate, degrads and dehumanize the female body for the purpose of erotic stimulation and pleasure." Women Against Pornography has opaned chop on Manhattan's Porn Row at 42nd Street and Ninth Avenue. The campaign ie backed by all the heavies in the feminist movement (not to mention local non-porn tradere, who, for commercial reasons, are delighted to see an attempt to clean up their nelgbbourbood), and It has attracted beadline coverage all over the country by taking dazed housewives on guided tours of the Times Square pespsbows and porn parlours.

As Gloria Steinem well knows, they may get scoffed at for being earnest and burnourless but take a bunch of women to see "Slaves of a Nazi Stud," tell the newspapers and you can comfortably sit hack and wait for the photographs and stories to start appearing.

WAP has just held a rather gran-diosely antitled East Coast Feminist Conference, attended by about 700 women, which began with a slide ehow of some of the most unplaasant woman-as-elave porn and certainly raised the audienca's collective consciousnese All this is a taste of what is to come: on October 20. Women Against Pornography is planning a national march on Times Square, when between 20,000 and 50,000 women will ewamp America's port capital.

The result, they hope, will be that legislators will be forced to rethink what should be protected by the First Amendment. Some aspects of porn are easy to condamn: the so-called "kiddle" shows, in which children are used as sex objects and physically abused: "snuff" filme, in which the woman performing the eex act is actually killed as the climax to the movie; and real beetings and lscerations that take place for sick voyeurs.

WHAT I HAVE trouble condemning is porn in its less extreme forms. The problem with pornography as a whole is that it is in the eye of the beholder. We all think we know it when we see it, but what is erotic to me may be porn to you. Whan Gloria Steinem sees a plc-ture of a woman wearing cut-out undles, perched lewdly, legs apart for the camera, she probably feele af-fronted. Yet I can't get too upset by what seeme like commercial naughtiness of a rather silly nature for which the model le, anyhow, being paid. After all, she's chosen this way of making a living over typing letters or working in a car factory This, to me, seams the line bstween porn and degradation. If women are willing to prostrate themselves in some fictional act of slavery or obelsance because they are being paid for it, then, however much I may find it unsavoury, I cannot really condemn them or soclety for allowing it to happen.

The feminists would not agree. They would speak of centuries of conditioning and exploitation.

ONE OF THE PROBLEMS of joining the anti-porn forces is the company you have to keep. Before you know it, you are lined up with puritans who disapprove of eex education and consider eruticism the way of the devil.

Most women today have had enough sexually to appreciate its ambivalance and enough of a taste of living in a man's world not to want to lose their precarious acceptance in this soclety. If that means feeling self-conscious when walking through alleyways of peepshows and strip joints, then most of us have learned to avert our eyes and our minds or take the long way round.

with this, asking why chould we have to avert our eyes? But the darker side of eex has been around rather longer than the women'e movement and, it must be admitted, many women are also turned on by pornography. Think of the hundreds of girls who voluntarily send picturee of themselvee to porn magazines hoping for publication and, preeumably, fame and fortune. And one feminist of my acquaintance has told me that when she and her partner make love, they act out ber rape fantasles.

Many feminists would take h

As I write this, I realize I sound like a limousine liberal who wants to be on the right side but doeen't want to protest too much. Perhaps one of my earliest jobe at an office in Brewer Street, in the tackier fringes of London's Sobo, hardened ma against the shock other women seem to feel.

"Yvette three flighte up" and "Sandra, bottoms caned" were notices in nearby doorways, and I got used to seeing rathar fat ladies posed naked and clearly unasbamed of their well-upholstered cheeks in front of sleazy clubs.

WE ARE LIVING at a time when soclety is very confused. Sex roles and sex expectations are changing rapidly, women are becoming increasingly powerful economically and amotionally.

Yet fashion photographers lika Helmut Nawton are making a spiendid living depicting women in chic hondage, in one case a model in boots and hra, with a saddle on her; back (and her lipstick in place) on ali fours on a damask-covered double hed.

The editors who buy these pictures for their fashlon magazines are mostly women and, of course, the primary readers of fashion magazines are women, too. Brutali ty chic ie finally supported by women.

The days are long gone when por nographers were dirty little men in raincoats. These days, they go to this best parties and wear hand-made shoes. Fifty thousand women marching on Timee Square will certainly cause a few people to stop and think, and that, in Itself, is a form d success.

Of isst month's migrants, 60 per cent were under the age of 30 and almost all of the rest were between 80 and 49. London produced 60 per cent of the total, with 15 per cent from the Manchester area and a further 15 per cent from Glasgow and the north. There were even nine immigrants from Ireland.

Nor was this a flash in the pan. It marely confirms the trend towards greater aliya that has been apparent for the past few years and has been ing throughout 1979: In the first eight months of this year, there were 949 immigrants from Britain, compared to 869 in the correspon-

A NEW PRESIDENT was at the helm as the Institute of Holy Land Studies on Mt. Zion opened its new academic year earlier this month. Professor George Giacumakis, mer chairman of the history department at California State University at Fullerton, brings a rich background of nnlversity teaching and administration to his new post.

Glacumakis' parents were Greek immigrants to the United States who feared the loss of their identity and fought gamely against their children's assimilation. Greek was spoken in the home, and the children ittended afternoon classes at the Greek Orthodox Church after they finished their classes in the public schools. Although there was a natural boyhood resentment of those estra hours of study, years later Giacumakis looked back with appreciation and thanked his mother for her persistent prodding. Maturity more clearly perceives the value of one'e heritage.

His father was a haker, and George was expected to take over the family backery. From early adolescence, he epent certain days after school and vacations working ith his father. He even completed a the decorating course.

Following an experienca of coming a personal faith in Christ as a mager, Glacumakis' life began to inge direction. The day came en he had to tell his father that be anted to go to a Christian college

"Many things are aliya. We see this reflected in the happening in Britain and in Israel number of interviews with potential that make people fael that they lmmlgrante conducted by our shlichim. We have one additional shaliah this year, but even so the "In Britain, It is the problam of Jewish education and the social and nine shlichim in London and the momic problems of the country. provinces are conducting an average In Israel, there is a cense of belongof five interviews a day. And they are fully booked for up to two weeks ing. Peace is also an important factor. Many people tell us that they are ahead."

The additional shaligh is based in the east London suburb of llford which, with some 40,000 Jews, has the highest concentration of Jews in Europe. Gaby Yinon, an Israell radio and television broadcaster. works from the community centre in liford, and if the experiment is successful, liford will continue to bave a permanent residential emissary.

THE AUGUST figures were boosted by the departure of 12 members of one family. The two Lewis brothers, from Edgware, a north-West London suburb which also bas a large Jewish population (and has sent a number of its members on aliya in the past couple of years), are both married. Ona bas four children, the other three, and they have taken their elderly mother with them. They will epend their first few months in Israel at the Ra'anana Absorption Centre. Tha policy of the Aliya Department, as defined by Hanniel, is a simple one: "To go out to the community and give them as much information as possible about Israel and to show them that the country is a viable option for them to consider." One other interesting aspect of tha latest figuree: They include 100 returning Israelia — which, again, is the highest-ever single monthly total.

If the present trend continuee and there is every indication that It will — the aliya total for 1979 will be hetween 1.300 and 1.400, which is well above the 1978 record of 1.100.

DR. GIACUMAKIS first came to Ierael in 1966 - through Mandelhaum Gate - and over the years has led a number of study seminars for teachers, students, and Christian Isaders. He thereafter visited Israel eight more times, ineluding a sahhatical leave spent at the Institute of Holy Land Studiee. He hecame convinced that Israel's rehirth was no historical aceident: God was, and is, working out his purposes here. Biblical prophecy was heing fulfilled. While rejecting detailed eschatological timetablas that some Christians ecpouse, Giacumakis affirms his hellef in the providential working of God in srael's return to the Land.

With his outstanding background in university teaching and ad-ministration, his membership in nine professional cocleties, and his love for Israel, Prof. Giacumakis was a logical candidate to succeed Dr. G. Douglas Young. Dr. Young eerved as president of the Institute since he founded it in 1957.

THE INSTITUTE of Holy Land Studies is situated in the former Bishop Gobat School on Mt. Zion, overlooking tha upper Hinnom Valley. This autumn it has students from 25 universities, colleges, or graduate schools, who will study in ooth its one-year programme for undergraduatee and the graduate programme. The coursee focus primarily on archaeology, history and geography of Ierael, Hehrew language and literature, and the cultures and peoples of the Middle East in ancient and modern times. Teachers come from the Hehrew University and Tel Aviv University, as well as from the Institute's own fine staff. Dr. Giacumakis himself will continue to teach a course or two each semester. This eemester he will co-teach, with Dr. Bernard Resnikoff, a course on the history of Jewish hellefe and practice, and next semester he will teach the history of the Eastern churches. He also hopee to further develop the studies in Islamics, in collaboration with Prof. Moshe Sharon, who also teaches part-time at the Institute. "I see the Institute continuing to make a contribution to the lives of Christian students and leaders from around the world," says Dr. Glacumakis, "The majority of our students come from North America, but at the moment we have 25 Japanese students here for a threeweek course with their president from Tokyo Christian College, and other countries are represented yearly.

Ancient custom

By REUVEN KASHANI/Special to The Jerusalem Post

THE CUSTOM of wearing white apparel, symholizing cleanlinees and purity, is a very ancient one. In Temple times, the High Pricet dres-sed in gold on Yom Kippur, hut fulfilled most of his duties in white. A red thread was hung at the entrance to the Temple, and when the Azazel scapegoat had arrived at its destina-tion in the desert, the thread would turn white as a sign that the people Jerusalem in the time of the Second Temple, related: "The entire pop-ulation of Jerusalem would pass hefore him. [the High Priest] all dressed in white and carrying flaming white torches; all the windows were deeorated with emhroidery and filled with eandles" (Shevel Yehudo.

It is related that Simon the Just. who was High Priest for 40 years, informed his disciples that he would die that year. "They asked him how he knew this, and he replied to them: Every Yom Kippur an old man dreseed and draped in white would enter and leave with me, while today a different man, dressed and draped in black, entered with me hut did not leave with me, Simon was sick for

Achkenazi Jews wear a long white

Kahbalists explain that on this day we are in the status of Ministering Angels, who wear white.

Rafael Haim Hacohen, one of the early olim from Iran, recalls in his memoirs, written at the close of the last century, that in the town of Bosur in Iran all the congregants wore white: "On Yom Kippur the entire population of the town - both men and woman - were dressed in white from head to toe... Everything in the synagogue was white... The women in the gallery were also dressed in white... and the light of ths candles added to the dignity and charm." (Stones in the Wall P.14).

THE CUSTOM of lighting candles in the synagoguse on Yom Kippur Eve is mentioned in the Talmud (Pessahim 23). Some cay that this is to ensure that the congregation remains awake throughout the night to study Tora. Others cay that this custom harks hack to Temple times, when the High Priest was kept awake all night reviewing the devotions he was to perform (Mishna Yoma 10:6).

In some places every memher of the congregation would bring a candle to the synagogue on Yom Kippur Eve

However, since Sinai was for most of Islamic history an out-of-the-way corner of the Empire, a bleak desert nalther desired nor contested, very little attention was pald to it by the Moslem rulers, excapt for the northern section, which was part of the Haj route from Egypt and North

In Syria, where the conquering Moslems encountered a vigorous Christian population and many Christian and Jewisb eacred sites, the Islamic political and religious catablishment made great efforts not only to proselytize, but to acquire exclusive rights to the major holy places. This bappened at the Temple Mount and the Cave of Macbpela. In both cases, the Islamization of both the site and its sacred history was affected in two stages: first, by stressing its connection with a Koranic figure such as Abraham, Mosss or Jesus; and secondly, by connecting it directly with the Prophet Mobammed bimself, through the development of the tradition about his miraculous nocturnal journey from the Sacred Moeque (Al-Aqsn), which at the beginning of the 5th century came to

The high minaret of a no doubt splendidlybuilt moeque will dominats the area including (if they are built) the cburch and the synagogue. The Egyptian ruler, combining the an-clent pharaonic practicc with a pop-ular Islamic one, will have prepared his burial-place. The mountain-top where the Koran says God spoke to Musa, will become a popular new place of pligrimage, good for believers, just as are the tombs of so many sainis throughout the Middle

With such a prospect of entering into the realm of Islamic beroes and holy men, one can hardly blame Mr Sadat for being co interested in Sinai. Opinion

PRESIDENT SADAT bas been preoccupied with Mt. Sinai ever since the negotiations between Israel and Egypt started. When it began to be clear that a peace treaty would be signed, he suggested that the ceremony should take place on top of the mountain where, tradition holds.

The suggestion, whose mystical

d, was not taken-as seriously and symbolic meaning can hardly be as Sadat had hoped. Prsmier Begin treated it rather lighthcartedly, wondering whether mules would be available to carry the signatories -

the Egyptian and U.S. presidents and himself - up the mountain.

However, one can be sure that Israel understood perfectly what lay behind the idea, for Sadat accom-pamed it by another plan, which be offered to the world. He announced his intention to build on Mt. Sinai a mosque, a church and a synagogue, to symbolize the fraternity of the three major monotheistic faiths in that Egypt had claimed consistently that the mutual security pacts signed by the Arab States were not nullified by the signature of the peacs treaty with Israel and that they had priority over that treaty. To Egypt, therefore, the treaty with Israel is not indeed a treaty to bring peace, but an instrument for lowering Israel's defences against the day when the Arab States decided to tamch a new war against her.

If was precisely the claim made by Dr. Ghali that prevented the signature of the peace treaty already in November 1975. President Sadat, then at the last moment before signature, demanded the deletion or the amendment of Clause 6 which established the treaty's preferential status over Egypt'e obligations to the other Arab States under their mutual security pacts (aimed, inter alia at the elimination of Israel). What his

In a television interview three days later, moreover, the Prims Minister reiterated in unsquivocal terms the utter impossibility of his signing such a treaty.

"In the draft peace treaty which we were prepared to sign," be said, "and which was reached between the three dilegations on 11th November. there. are two stipulations which I call the heart and coul of the treaty, namely firstly, it doesn't depend on the action or inaction of any other party and, eecond, that if there is a conflict between the agreements which Egypt signed for thirty years with all the Arab League countries. and the peace treaty; the commitments under the peace treaty will be binding and will be im-plemented... Otherwise... it becomes a piece of paper ... It is absurd to de-

Forty years ago, in the months before the outbreak of war, Zeev Jabotinsky wrote a series of chilling articles on the failure of the Jawish masses in Eastern Europe to respond to the blatant signs, and to his desperate warnings of the hopelessness of their situation and of catastrophe that lay in wait. He en-titled one of those articlee "Chloroformed." It is a tragic historic irony that precisely his bestknown disciple should be the prime agent in trying to chloroform the people of Israel into an insouciant resignation to the dire dangere towards which bs is leading them.

This week Isracl, In fastidlous fulfilment of ber undertakings, handed over to Egypt the third instalment of Sinal. In two months' time she bas undertaken to hand over the fourth instalment - including ber only indspendent source of oll - to the committed upholder of the Arabs' mutual security pacts. The nuthor is the former adviser on information to the prime minister.

Commercial banks gain despite mark

TEL AVIV, - The share market closed out the week on a discordant note as prices contiqued to fall throughout the various sectors of trading. An exception to the rule was the commercial bank equifies which continued to advance. The trading pace quickened as nearly IL63m. shares changed hands. The index-linked bond market was mixed.

so per cent linked bonds were ahead by as much as 1.5 per cent while fully-linked issues were lower by a similar figure. "Double option" bonds were higher by as nuch as 1 per cent. Trading was active at 11.80,9m. in the bond market.

The Israeli pound continued to make additional headway, even if minuscule, against the U.S. dollar. The local currency gained one point against the American currency. The Israel pound, in the past few sessions, has been getting some active support by the foreign ourrency dealer from the Bank of Israel In the commercial bank group FIBI continued to lead all shares with a three point gain to an even 500. Hapoalim. Geoeral Bank and Leumi each gained two points. Union was ons higher while IDB remained unchanged.

NL races tight in American baseball Phil Niekro beats brother Joe as Braves top Astros

NEW YORK (AP). - Phil Niekro did not treat Joe Niekro and the Houston Astros with any brotherly love on Wednesday night.

Phil, the 40-year-old knuckleball artist, became the first National League pitcher in 74 years to win 20 games and lose 20 in the same season, burling the Braves to a 9-4 victory ovar his brother Joe and the Astros.

No second-stage Concorde to follow first model

LONDON (Reuter). - The British and French decision not to spend any more money on the Concorde airliner means an end to the two countries' dream of becoming world leaders in a new age of supersonic travel.

Britain and France have already poured $3b. into developing the plane. But the soaring price of fuel dashed their hope that Concorde would be in demand as flagships for all the major international alrlines.

Sixteen of the fast but fuel-guzzling planes bave been built, but only the two countries' state-owned airlinee, British Airways and Air France, have bought them.

There have been no third-country buyers. The decision to halt future super-sonic spending was announced last week following meetings bere between French Transport Minister Joel Le Theule and Adam Butier, the British Minister of Transportation.

Le Thsule and Butler agresd that another £80m. ($176m.) would be allocated between Britain and France for spares and repairs to Concordes now built, but that would be the end.

British Airways now flies five Concordes and has agreed to take one of the two remaining unsold planes built in Britain. Air France flies four

Strike closes giant

Dutch refinery

ROTTERDAM (AP). - Shell's glant Pernis refinery, one of the biggest in the world, began to shut down yceterday as a strike by its 6,100 workers got under way, a Shell spokesman said.

The refinery, which has a total in-put capacity of 26 million tons of crude oll annually, will take three to four days to completely shut down, in a procedure worked out with the coopcration of the management, he said.

It will take a week to restart. The strike, backed by Holland's biggest labour federation. is to press a claim for a reduction in working hours.

The refinery has been running at only 70 per cent of capacity recently, because of the general recession, the spokesman sald. About 50 per cent of the oll produced is for export, mostly to other European Economic Com munity countries.

Concordes and the French government has offered its three remaining unsold Concordes to the airline. Of the two remaining planes, the ordinated ceptul notes

manufacturers, British Aerospace and French Aerospatiale, have each kept one for research purposes. The nine Concordes now in service, even though many are flying with satisfactory load factors, are still losing money, considering the substantial development costs that went into them, and there is no hope they will ever go into the black.

Other airlines use Concordes on a part-time basis, but bave shown no interest in buying the plane.

The U.S. carrier Braniff files a British Airways or Air France Con-corde from Washington to Dallas five times a week, but must make the trip subsonically, because American law prohibits supersonle flight over U.S. territory. Singapore Airlines and Britisb Airways fly a joint service from London to Singapore, via Bahrain, three times a week.

Butler put an end to the idea that the two governments might go ahead with developing a second stage Concorde - more economicai to run aod with a bigger seating capacity then the present Concorde's 100 and a looger range than its 5,900 kms.

He said costs would be so high that European governments couldn't afford It and he wondered if even the U.S. could. It would take an international effort.

Point of no return

ALL'S WELL that ends well, ao to speak. The latest round of the autonomy talks, held in Alexandria, wound up yesterday with a joint communique in which the Israeli and Egyptian dalegations patted themselves on their backs for having achieved "positive progress."

An announcement was also made that Israeli, Egyptian and American experts will now intensify their efforts to work out the detaile of the autonomy to be offered to the inhabitants of the West Bank and Gaza.

Thus it appears that not too much need he made, at this time, of the verbal joust between the Egyptian and Israeli ministers staged, in full view of television cameras, during the opening session, on Wedneaday.

The issue was Israel's decision, last week, to allow its citizens to purchase land in Judea and Samaria. Yet there had been prior agreement that this issue should not be raised, and surely not in public.

What it was that prompted Egyptian Premier Khalil to launch into a denunciation of Iarael's action, and Minister of State Ghali to manfully second him, is unknown. But no doubt the presence of the TV cameras was the cause. Perhaps it does not matter, for no great harm has been done. The talke are to continue.

That is plainly the intention of President Sadat himself; which is probably the reason why he made so light of Israel's land decision.

It may be assumed that be would agree, in substance, with all the cridicisms levelled at it by Mr. Khalil and Dr. Ghali: it is an attempt to create a fait accompli, it is not calculated to encourage Palestinian participation in the autonomy, and it is most untimaly (baving been taken, after 12 years of inaction, right on the first anniversary of the Camp David accords.)

But Mr. Sadat is determined not to allow anyone, not his own entourage nor American officialdom, to rock the diplomatic hoat - while he is waiting to see what happens to Mr. Begin and his government.

But when the period of waiting ends a storm is sure to break, unless Israel amends its concept of the autonomy.

For the real debate between Israel and Egypt on the structure of the autonomy is about fundamentals and not about details, and it cannot be papered over, as at Camp David, by cleverly contrived ambiguities. Nor can it be reaolved, as Israel would want, by wholiy arbitrary interpretation that even ambiguity does not justify.

At Camp David Israel reserved for itself, for its security, some specific rights in the territories during the interim period of the autonomy and beyond. But the agreed fact that the "full autonomy" is designed for the inhabitants of the West Bank and Gaza cannot be made to mean that Iarael's writ might continue to run over the West Bank and Gaza land as it has done during the life of the military government.

Similarly, the agreed fact that the military government is to be withdrawn (and replaced by the planned self-governing authority) cannot be twisted to imply that, acting from new headquarters elsewhere, the military government might still be the source of authority for the territories.

Because this interpretation cannot be logically austained. it will have to be modified, sooner or later. There is, perhaps, some hope in that.

A matter of priorities

U.S. officials eager to talk to PLO Sabotaging a pledge

President Carter and his foreign policy team have always resented the 1975 U.S. pledge not to recognize, or negotiate with, the PLO until it recognizes Israel's right to exist, writes Post Washington Correspondent WOLF BLITZER.

ISRAELI officials and other pro-Israel activists in Washington are the first to concede that the recent chain of events surrounding the resignation of former UN Ambassador Andrew Young has resulted in a tremendous public relations boost for the PLO in America

Today, more than ever before, the American public is being bombarded with the Palestinian question and the proper role of the PLO in resolving it. Unfortunately for Israel, support for a U.S. dialogue with the PLO is being voiced by an increasingly large number of Americans, not just by the Bleck leadership.

of agreement, this one reaffirming the U.S. pledge out to deal with the The Carter Administration may be committed not to deal with the PLO, but nearly all senior U.S. officials are actually pleased about the PLO'a this new one was made public by Secretary Vance and Foreign new legitimacy and the accompanying pressure on Israel to revise its policy. A review of the administration's earlier attitude toward the PLO explains why.

Almost from the moment that President Jimmy Carter and his foreign policy team took office in January 1977, they let it be known that they resented the 1975 U.S. pledge to Israel not to "recognize or negotlate" with the PLO until it accepted Israel's right to exist and UN Resolutions 242 and 338.

That undertaking was cootained in a memorandum of agreement elgned on September 1, 1975, by then-Secretary of State Henry Kiseinger and then-Foreign Minister Yigai Alion at the conclusion of the Sinai II accord. From Presideot Carter, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski on down, administration officials privately derided the Kissinger commitment - and the resentment occasionally surfaced publicly. The general complaint: Wby should the U.S. allow Israel the right to determine with whom Washington can talk? Administration officials concluded early in 1977 that eerious progress on the Palestinian front could be achieved, but only if the U.S. and the PLO established direct contacts

THUS, during the course of that first year in office, a concerted U.S. campalgn designed to elicit PLO moderation was undertaken. But it eventually failed as the PLO refused to hudge and meet America'eminimal conditions for recognition.

. The legal opinion. Late in April, the concept of "social encounters" was expanded in a formal legal opinion drafted by the State Department's jegal adviser, Herbert Hansell. He noted that the language of the U.S. Israel memorandum berred "recognition" of or "negotiation" with the PLO. "Com-municating" with the PLO — chort of actually "recognizing or negotiating" - was permissible, according to Hansell.

This new interpretation was explaioed publicly by Saunders during testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Europe and the Middle East, Israsli officials in Washington immediately sensed that the administration was trying to back out of the commitment, and they complained ebout this trend.

Indeed, many officials were very pleased about Wolf's initiative, even though he bad been indiscreat by mentioning it in cables to Washington. They advised him that if ba should meet again with the PLO, he chould report orally to avoid possible disclosure.

Young had been well-briefed on all the nuances of permissible behaviour toward tha PLO, mostly by Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs Charles William Meynes, a 41-yearold former Carnegie Endowment for International Peace staffer and foreign policy adviser to former Senator Fred Harris.

Maynes and Young had developed an extremely close relationship, not typical of the traditional bureeucratic rivalry which has often characterized the dealings between the U.S. mission to the UN (USUNI and the Bureau for International Organization Affairs at State (IO). In fact, during the Young-Maynes era, several reliable State Department sources said, the relationship between USUN and IO actually thrived.

In the Third World, the PLO is king, the most widely recognized "liberation movement." America's refusal to talk to the PLO was hurting Washington's image in the Third World.

That must be taken into account in any attempt to understand why Young decided to meet with Terzi. It also helps to explain why the two men, and their staffs, had combined " at other times to stretch the limits of U.S. policy towards the PLO.

Even after the U.S. decided to drop its idea of introducing a resolution in the Security Council recognizing. Palestinian rights, U.S. officials st tha UN, including Donald McHenry, the new ambassador who then serve ed as Young's deputy, continued to send sympathetic alguals to the PLO.

In successfully arguing for a postponement of a formal Security Councll vote on an Arab-backed Palestinian rights resolution. Young, McHenry and other U.S. officials told the Arabs that the PLO had achieved a aignificant publie relations boost in the wake of the-Young resignation and that it would be in the PLO's interest not to force the issue right now.

According to reliable accounts of those conversations, they told the Arabs to he patient and further 'progress" in improving U.S.-PLO relations would develop. Based on what has happened in the U.S. since the postponement, their advice to the Arabs seems to have been sound.

THE SYSTEM of free and obligatory kindergartens for all children between the age of 5 and 6, is one of Israel's proudest achievements. It reflects the conviction that the time to remove personal handicaps that are not innate is during the child's formative years.

Yet it is also now widely acknowledged that pre-school education should start at an even earlier age if the country is to make real progress in wiping out the exisiting communal gap; that it cannot simply be left to the family. With this in mind, many municipalities now provide kindergartens for 4- to 5-year-olds, though at a price that ranges from IL93 to IL930 per month. Children in the 2 to 4 age group — the truly crucial age, in the opinion of many educators - must have recourse to private kindergartens. There are only enough of these to accommodate about half of the eligible children, and they are wholiy unaided by the state. The Ministry of Education has just allowed those among them that are licensed to charge a fee of IL1,300 per month, plus soma "special" additional fees.

This figure (which will ln any case be honoured only in the breach in numerous instances) put the private kindergartens out of the reach of precisely those children (and children's families) who need tham the most. The figure tops the current university fee.

There is comething exceedingly odd about our national prioritice when high-achool tuition is made free (by spreading it over national insurance contributions) while nurseries are kept more expensive than universities. But then the chlidren do not have the vote, and their mothers (who might otherwise opt to work mornings) are not vote-conscious.

Worst of all, those aspiring politicians who clalm (or seek) to represent the underprivileged, largely Oriental, group are too much absorbed in such lofty matters as television programming to give any attention to the upbringing of little children.

Sir. - I am writing with reference to your news item of August 16 and the letter from the Missee Citron and White of August 20, concerning the closure of the British Council library in Haifa. The letter indicated that running a small general library was the British Council's "only activity in Halfa." I would like to correct this impression which appears to be held
